HOW THE ATLANTIC CABLE IS WORKED—THE PROGRESS OF OCEAN TELEGRAPHING.

We find the following interesting account of the working of the Atlantic cable in a recent lecture by the Hon. Wm. J. McAlpine, on the subject of "Modern Engineering:"

Telegraphy may, with propriety, be considered one of the branches of engineering, and is peculiarly of modern development. A clever writer says that it may be read by each of the five senses. On land lines each signal is made by suspending the flow of the electric current for two different intervals of time, called "dots and dashes"—the use of which, in different orders, constitutes the alphabet of the telegraph. When these are printed they are read by "sight," but ordinarily the operator reads them by "sound" as easily as a musician reads the letters of the scale by the same sense. If the operator has no instrument, he will grasp the wire in his hand, and read the signals by "feeling" the intermissions of the flow of the electric current. In like manner by placing the wire across his tongue he can "taste" the same intermission, but this is a dangerous experiment. And it is said that the electricity can be made to dissolve a chemical and produce a pungent odor in the telegraphic alphabet, which can be read by "smelling," but for this I do not vouch. I believe that the method of signaling through the Atlantic cable is known in detail to but few persons. The operation is exactly reversed from that of the land wires.

The gutta-percha covering of the copper wires under the pressure of a great depth of water, becomes an absorbent of the electricity which is being sent through them to the extent of 90 per cent. The first portion of the electric wave of 10 per cent, crosses the ocean (1,700 miles) in two seconds, and would be followed by a succession of waves from the restoration of that portion of the electricity which has been absorbed by the gutta-percha in impulses, and the signal would be repeated like echoes, and produce not only confusion, but great delay. To remedy this Professor Varley introduced a key, which sends alternate currents, positive and negative, at such intervals as allow the first wave of 10 per cent. to pass forward, and then that portion absorbed by the covering is neutralized by its opposite, and the cable is cleared for the transmission of a second pair of currents.—The battery used is a very small one, (three of Daniel's cups,) and the signal being only 10 per cent. of this small current, is powerless to move any of the other instruments in use on land. The instrument used consists of a minute polarized needle, suspended on a single strand of a spider's web, or one from the silk worm. In the middle of this minute needle is placed an almost microscopic mirror, which reflects a single ray of light from a powerful lamp.

The currents of electricity effect this needle alternately to the right and left for a space of time corresponding to that occupied in the signal of the land line, the same kind of alphabet being used in both cases. The receiver (not operator) sits in a dark room, and the small mirror reflects the ray of light upon a piece of white paper before him, on which a black line is drawn, to the right and left of which the light is alternately reflected. The receiver reads those signals by "sight," and transmits them into another person, placed outside of the dark room, by means of an ordinary instrument. A short time since, Gen. Reynolds told us that he had sent a message, without either wire or cable, ninety-two miles across an arm of Lake Superior, by means of the Heliotrope or mirror, and on the return of this messenger, (who had been sent with a written copy,) he found that the Heliotrope message had been received, understood and obeyed.

He had two assistants, who had been telegraphic operators, who had for a whole summer been amusing themselves in talking to each other with these instruments, though they were stationed ten, twenty, or thirty miles apart. When Gen. Morgan made his great raid through Indiana and Ohio, he captured one of my operators, and compelled him to telegraph, in Gen. Lew. Wallace's name, to Cincinnati, asking how many regular troops were in that city. Morgan read by "sound," and, therefore, the operator did not dare to intimate that he was under duress, and could only venture to add an extra initial to his own signatures. The receiving operator at Cincinnati knew that Morgan was in that neighborhood, and suspecting, from the extra initial letter, that all was not right, replied, greatly exaggerating the force of regulars, and the consequence was that Morgan changed his route to a circuit of twenty miles beyond the city, and thus saved it from a sack, and the probable loss of millions of dollars.

A ROMANCE OF MILAN.

A remarkable trial has just been held before the Correctional Tribunal of Milan. A married woman, 25 years of age, bearing the name of Caroline Aragon, and whose husband had abandoned her, became enamored of an Englishman named Edward Howard, who lived in Milan, and gave lessons in English. His position in the Lombard capital seems to have been good, but he abandoned it for her sake, and they travelled together, and early in the present year were at Venice. While there her family, which for five years had taken no notice of her, suddenly applied to the Milan police to have her brought back to her father's house. She was arrested, taken to Milan and placed as a prisoner in her father's hands. As was shown by a note she wrote to Howard, and which was read in Court, she was completely deprived of her person at liberty and prevented from going out—Howard thereupon applied to the King's procurator, who summoned the D'Aragonas, father and daughter, to appear before him on the 11th of February. It was the wedding day of one of her brothers. By signs from her window, she contrived to inform Howard that she was going out at noon; and when, at that hour, she and her father got into a carriage, he appeared at the door, touched her on the arm, and asked her where she was going. The details of the tragical scene that ensued are given in a letter written by her to Howard's advocate, and by him laid before the tribunal.—She writes:—"I was cast into prison like a malefactor, without knowing for what reason. In these painful circumstances, I had fresh proofs of Howard's attachment in the extraordinary efforts he made for my release. But the order was irrevocable. I was forced to set out the next morning, escorted by a functionary who made me over to the Milan police, who, apparently not knowing what to do with me, sent me from one place to another, and finally to San Vittore, accompanied by two policemen in plain clothes, and thence on the following day, I was made over to my family. I will not dwell upon the mental anguish occasioned me by such treatment. To this hour I am unable to comprehend by what right and in virtue of what law the police interfered in the affair, since it was not a case of restoring some runaway minor to her family, I being of age and a married woman, and five years absent from my father's house." She states that she was locked up in a room and allowed to see no one. Unfortunately, Howard misinterpreted the signal made from her window, and instead of understanding that at 12 the next day she was to be taken before the Royal Procurator, he thought she proposed that he should meet her at the house door to take her away from Milan. Staggered at seeing her accompanied by her father, he stopped at the carriage window, and, in reply to his inquiry, she told him where she was going to be taken. A horrible scene ensued, which she thus vividly describes:—"The words were hardly spoken when my brother Luigi and his father-in-law fell upon him, seized him furiously by the beard, and dragged him back under the gateway of the house. Then he was assailed by a crowd of bystanders, and a tremendous struggle began. Howard, seeing himself overwhelmed with insults and by the number of his adversaries, drew a six-barrelled revolver from his pocket and warned his assailants to stand back or he would fire upon them. Seeing that the warning was fruitless, he fired three or four shots in the air, as I myself saw, with no other object, I am profoundly convinced, than to clear a space around him, and so rejoin me.

All this was the work of a moment. As if with a presentment of what was about to happen, I jumped out of the carriage and hastened to join him, but, alas! too late, for he already lay upon the ground, bathed in his own blood. Stooping over him, and just as he had spoken the words, "Je meurs pour toi et je t'aime," a kick given, I cannot say by whom, forced his eye out of the socket and it fell down over his cheek. I remained as one petrified. My hand clasped in his, I swore in my heart to revenge his death, when I was dragged away by main force, and so sudden and violent was the impetus that the poor victim was dragged with me for some distance over the stones. Covered with his blood and almost frantic, I was forced again into the carriage and carried before the Royal Procurator, to whom these fresh blood-stains attested the deplorable fact that had just occurred. It appears that when Howard fired his revolver in the air, one of the D'Aragonas, either from fright or in trying to get away, slipped and fell. Howard thought he had killed him, and, seized with despair, put his pistol to his head and shot himself. He appeared in court with a black bandage round his head, having lost his right eye. The papers describe him as a man of six-and thirty, of gentlemanly appearance. When Caroline D'Aragona came into court to give evidence, he advanced to meet her, and they clasped hands with great emotion. The tribunal acquitted him on the charge of firing with malicious intent; he was fined 50 francs for carrying the revolver and immediately released.

Largest amount of Losses to Widows and Orphans!
The Largest Revenue to the States. But two of the fifty-eight Companies permitted to do business in New York and Massachusetts had so large an income for the year 1868; but two had so large a number of Policies in force, but one among all those incorporated under the laws of the State of New York had so small a per centage of Expense to Income during the year 1868.
Its expenses are lower than most Companies', and consequently its ability to make and pay liberal dividends to the insured is greater than that of most other Companies. It is one of the great Companies of the land in Income, in Assets, in Number of Policies, in Amount Insured, in Solidity and Strength, in Soundness, Cheapness, Promptness, and Success. OF GRANVILLE COUNTY, realizing the importance of spreading the growth of Wheat in this County; and the farmers, knowing so well the absolute necessity of supplying themselves at an early period with "Seed Wheat" of the finest quality, ready to plant in the Fall, the undersigned takes this early method of inviting applications from farmers, for what they may require to plant next Fall, of the very "Selected Seed Wheat" which he expects to deliver at moderate prices, from the crop growing now at his "Oakland Farm" near Townesville, in this County.
This Wheat was planted last Fall, with Guano, of seed selected in Baltimore with great care by my predecessor Mr. Chas. H. K. Taylor, who paid $3,25 for it there. It has had the advantage of a heavy top-dressing in Spring of Chicago Bone Fertilizer, and is now very promising.
Like the good Sorghum Seed which I have offered to the farmers of Granville, I hope the orders for my "Seed Wheat" may be equally attractive, to absorb all that I can expect to spare of it.
Address me at Kittrell's Springs, or Mr. Thos. W. Taylor, at Oakland Farm.

THE SENTINEL.

JOSIAH TURNER, Jr., EDITOR.

MONDAY, JUNE 28, 1869.

SPECIAL COURT AT ROCKINGHAM—CHICKEN STEPHENS, ANTHONY HAYES, ELLIS WALKER AND GOV. HOLDEN.

The reader has been made acquainted with Anthony Hayes, his crimes and his punishment. Ellis Walker's case attracted as much attention as that of Hayes, from the interest that Chicken Stephens manifested in it. Chicken Stephens lives in Yanceyville, and is Senator from that county.—Judge Tourgee was his guest at last Court, and the Bar refused to call on him, because he was at Stephens'. To see for ourself we called on the Clerk to show us the record where Stephens was indicted for stealing chickens. The Clerk said he knew nothing of it. Is there not such a record? we asked. "I know nothing of it," was the reply. The Clerk then referred us to his deputy who said there was such a record and he had once furnished it to the Milton Chronicle, and he could show it to us as soon as he was at leisure. We hear that Judge Tourgee and the Sheriff have, in accordance to the recent law, commissioned Chicken Stephens to practice law.—We think Tourgee should be impeached for it if it be true.

In the neighborhood of Thompsonville, Ellis Walker, (negro,) was whipped. Stephens came from Caswell, commissioned, as he said, by the Governor, to keep the peace in five counties. He intended to look up the offenders and put down Ku Klux, if it took twenty years. A school boy from Alamance and one young man, were arrested by Ellis Walker. Stephens came to the trial, he acted as spokesman for the Court. The case was postponed until Saturday; the trial to come off at Ellis Walker's house at 10 o'clock. All appeared; Chicken Stephens representing Ellis Walker, the Governor, and the State. The defendants represented by counsel. The case was postponed from 10 to 12 o'clock. The next thing heard of the Court they had left Ellis Walker's house, where the trial was to take place, and gone to Thompsonville, a mile off, sending word to the defendants to come there. When they arrived at Thompsonville, the Court announced that the defendants could not be tried, because of the absence of a material witness. "Who is the witness?" asked the counsel for the defendants. After a little hesitancy and stammering the Court said "Ellis Walker was the witness." Counsel for defendants proposed to go back to his house. All returned to the house of Ellis Walker, where a trial took place. The school boy was acquitted. The Court announced the case continued as to the other defendant. "Why is it continued?" asked the counsel. "Because," said the Court, of "the absence of a material witness." "Who is the witness?" "That is in the breast of the Court." Here the Court retired for consultation, and after returning announced the cause continued for the absence of a sick witness, a negro who lived with one of the Court.

The defendant got a carriage and invited the Court to ride over to the house of the sick and absent witness for whom the case had been continued. All ride to his house—the witness is examined and knows nothing of the transaction. The Court as they walk from the house of the sick witness—dismissed the case, as to the other defendant.

All hands now repair to Ellis Walker's house. The counsel for defendant, at the request of the Court, announced that there was a rumor in the neighborhood that the sick witness for whom they wished to continue the case, was a material witness, and all they wished to do was justice.

About this time, great contempt was shown for the Governor and his appointees. A school boy bought a chicken pie which he offered to Stephens. Stephens instead of thanking him, flew into a rage. Sanford Simpson, to keep the peace and make a bit of pleasantry, inquired of Stephens if he would answer him one question. Stephens replied "yes." "Well," said Simpson, tell us all what time of night it was when you stole the chickens."

The Company dispersed until they should all be called together at the Special Court for further investigation under Tourgee.

Some of the people of Rockingham "cuss" like Holden and the whole army in Flanders. We heard them curse Holden, and Tourgee and the Court, and Judge Settle and the ten thousand dollar bridge. They cursed Ellington, their representative, and told hard stories on him. We did not hear Senator Lindsay cursed, on the contrary, all spoke of him as a clever man, and such was the impression he made upon us; but to follow Holden's lead, and associate with the Rockingham County Commissioners, and Stephens and Anthony Hayes, will cave smut upon the whitest character.

Alexander Scales (negro) juror, struck Tourgee upon the Bench, after this wise. General Scales asked "his honor" to excuse Alexander from the jury, because of sickness in his family. When the juror was sworn, and the Judge asked why he could not serve, he said he was behind in his crop and had already lost two days. "But your family is sick," said the General. "Yes," the juror said, and the Judge excused him.

We have been in constant attendance on Courts in this circuit for more than twenty years and never knew any Judge to fail to open Court on Monday of the Term, until Tourgee rode the circuit. There should be a law to indict him for his gross neglect of duty. When he first rode this circuit he did not reach Caswell until Tuesday or Wednesday. He missed a whole week at Orange, and called Court the 21 instead of the first Monday of the Term. He adjourned Court on Thursday before he had finished the business of the Term; he did not reach Chatham until Wednesday, and so we take it, he behaved throughout the circuit. From five to eight hundred men in each of those counties lost three days work, looking for the Judge, whose neglect and want of promptness in reaching his Courts, has become an intolerable nuisance and a tax upon the time of Jurors, suitors and witnesses. Six hundred men stood two days and part of the third, in the streets of Wentworth, looking for the Judge while he was idling about Raleigh and Greensboro.

The new bridge over Dan River, to be called Settle's bridge, and to cost 10,000 dollars, was attracting no little attention. No one but a set of irresponsible non tax-paying Commissioners seemed to favour it. The great talk of the county was the enormous tax to be paid, and the worthless, incompetent and irresponsible set of Commissioners who had to levy them. Taxation is the question upon which to stir the American people. They hate taxes; this hatred was inherited. Washington and his compeers, drinking butter milk for the most part, fought seven years because of a little stamp duty and three cents tax on tea.

Our people without a murmur have quietly submitted not only to stamps and taxation, but to be robbed and deprived of many great rights which freemen never yield without a fight. Rights, too, which were guaranteed by the Constitution itself. They have grown callous and indifferent to all public matters, leaving them in the hands of Stephens, Holden, Coleman, Laffin and eighty thousand negroes.

Many of the whites have refused to register, and many to vote after registering. We doubt if a full white vote has been polled in any county since the surrender. We rely upon Radical profligacy and heavy taxation to arouse the people to a more lively interest in matters pertaining to the public welfare.

PEN AND INK SKETCHES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, AS IT HAS BEEN.

DEDICATED TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE, AND TO THE ALUMNI OF THE UNIVERSITY.

NO. 14.

THE DECLINE OF THE UNIVERSITY.

From the close of the war till the peremptory closing of the University doors by the present State Government, and the death of Governor Swain, which two events happened as it were, simultaneously, the college had not regained its former proportions or popularity, but appeared to languish under some adverse influences. This change might at first be attributable to the extreme prostration of the whole Southern Country, but that could not be accepted as a sufficient reason when the neighboring Universities and colleges of Virginia began to be crowded as never before from all the States South of us, and with many of our own North Carolina boys. The Faculty was the same that had for many years, as a body, commanded the respect and patronage of the public, the course of instruction, the advantages, the general inducements were the same, or better. The very apparent change of feeling towards Chapel Hill was not to be attributed to any of these.

The average attendance of students for the three years immediately following 1865, was between 90 and 100. The graduating class of 1868 numbered 19.

THE LAST GRADUATING CLASS.

The Seniors of 1867-'8 were, as a class, much above the usual average. The Seniors were always more especially under Gov. Swain's tuition and influence, and he was always ready to acknowledge merit and promise. But all their Professors united in a high estimate of them. Prof Hepburn, writing from a college in Ohio, speaks of them yet with affection—wishing that he could have there, as exemplars, such students as Burgwyn, and Busbee, and Merwick, and Morehead. Some of them are now at other Institutions, pursuing Professional studies, and they will agree in saying that the advantages they enjoyed here were in no respect inferior to those of Virginia, or Yale, or Harvard. One writes that he never ceases to congratulate himself that he decided upon Chapel Hill to receive his collegiate education—that comparing the teaching there with that of one of the most celebrated of Northern colleges, he is satisfied that Chapel Hill was in no essential respect behind, and in many was ahead of sister Institutions. Another student says that after an examination at Yale he was asked who had taught him Greek, with a high compliment to the efficiency and precision of the Chapel Hill mode of instruction. Another writes from Virginia that the more he sees of other colleges, the more he prizes what he received at Chapel Hill, and the more heartily he turns with reverent affection to the memory of those who instructed him there.

THE CAUSE OF THE DECLINE.

With so much in the past to confer honor, and to stimulate, and working to the very last with the same zeal and efficiency and success, to what must we look when we speak of the decline of the University?

Without any disposition to call up past grievances, or violate the proprieties of social life, I may be allowed to say what could not well be omitted in a faithful sketch, that there is no doubt that the marriage of Gov. Swain's daughter to the Federal officer commanding the brigade that occupied Chapel Hill in April 1865, was the principal agent in alienating public affection and confidence from our University for a time.

Ordinarily a gentleman may give his daughter in marriage to whom he pleases without any effect beyond his own family circle; but it is one of the penalties of holding an exalted and responsible station, that in critical times even private acts become public property, and are weighed, and have their consequences. This marriage then, taking place when it did, deeply affected the popular feeling towards the President, and through him, the Institution itself.—For, as I have had frequent occasion to remark in the course of these sketches, it is upon the Head and his standing that the success of the college mainly depends. If the public voice disapproves of him, he or the college must succomb.

To Southern people smarting under the humiliation and agony of defeat and surrender, unable to look with complaisance upon their conquerors, uncertain of the future so shrouded in gloom, it seemed an outrage that the Head of an Institution, to whom their sons were to be entrusted should show so little apprehension of the Southern situation, so little sympathy with Southern feeling.

THE TRUE STATE OF THE CASE.

Gen. Atkins' advanced guard entered Chapel Hill on Easter Sunday, April 16th, 1865. He himself at the head of some 4,000 cavalry, took possession Monday 17th. In consequence of a visit paid by Gov. Swain to Gen. Sherman, below Raleigh, as member of a Commission to surrender the City, Gen. Atkins had orders to protect the University, and village, from destruction and pillage. This he did very effectually. Visiting at the Governor's, in pursuance of some official duty, he accidentally saw the Governor's daughter, and sought her acquaintance. He and his command remained in Chapel Hill till the 3rd of May. After his departure, the young lady communicated the fact of his proposals to her, and her engagement to him, to her parents, reminding them that she was twenty one years old

GOV. SWAIN'S COURSE.

I have never seen any man so deeply concerned and agitated as Gov. Swain at this unexpected denouement. His whole mind and thoughts had been concentrated for weeks upon public affairs, and the fate of the University. Suddenly, his tenderest affections were touched, and in his own household he was called upon to act in a matter requiring the most delicate and cautious management. Yet I, think his anxieties and agitation were but little connected with apprehensions of public censure or withdrawal of public favor.

For Gov. Swain thought the war was over. He had never entertained extreme views in regard to Southern rights in the inauguration of the war; he had not allowed himself to become unappeasably embittered toward the North during its continuance; and, then late, at its close, it was not a hard for him as for many to accept Peace And he did not calculate on the continuance of the exasperated state of feeling left by the war in those who had lost sons, husbands, brothers, houses and fortunes, and who had been subjected to insult and degradation. The people who felt most bitterly at the close of the war were not the majority in numbers at the South, but they were the majority so to speak in social rank and influence, refinement, intelligence and wealth. They were, in short, the class that supports Colleges and Institutions of learning. They are the people, the withdrawal of whose patronage will suffice at any time to give a death-blow to the prosperity of any College in the country, North or South.

Gov. Swain believed this marriage was but the first of many others like it to take place all over the South; that our Peace was to flow like a river, and that North and South were coming together at once to be more firmly united than ever. He was a sagacious man and accustomed to calculate possibilities very closely and accurately, but he did not once dream of the party issues that were to spring up and divide the country even more effectually than the war, nor of the bitterness that was to be engendered and revived

A prominent citizen of our State, returning in the winter of '65-'66 from Arkansas, said that from the time he reached the eastern shore of the Mississippi river, till he got home, this marriage was flung at him, wherever he was known as a North Carolinian, as a disgrace to the State.

THE WEDDING.

Having satisfied himself during a visit to the North that summer, of Gen. Atkins' personal character and standing at his home in Illinois, Gov. Swain yielded to what he very probably could not have controlled, even had he wished to, and gave him his daughter in August, 1865, without any apprehension in so doing he was condemning his scarcely less beloved University to temporary ostracism from public favor.

Of this marriage, I must be permitted to say that so far it has proved a happy one, and productive of nothing but happiness to those immediately concerned.

The Faculty and their families attended the wedding to show Gov. Swain that their respect for him was unalterable. They also paid the newly married pair afterwards such civilities as are usual in civilized life. One of the notabilia of the supper table was a large and handsomely decorated cake, sent by Freedmen as a bridal present to their deliverer and liberator. There were a number of gallant ex-Confederate soldiers among the guests, and looking on such a scene so soon after the close of hostilities, it really did appear as if the war was over.

The town's people, however, generally neglected their invitations. Chapel Hill people as I have said before, are a unique and somewhat independent set. They declined to attend the "Yankee wedding" from principle and they also declined to attend Mr. Pool's late commencement from principle.

Gov. Swain himself maintained a calm and even front through all these little temporary excitements. Conscious of his own integrity of purpose, and believing that all things find their level in time, he could endure temporary depression and wait for the subsidence. An old and devoted personal friend wrote to him that Fall from a distant State: "Live ten years, Governor, and you will be the most popular man in North Carolina."

THE APPROPRIATION.

The College continuing to languish, the tuition fees not sufficing for its expenses, Gov. Swain resolved to apply to the State for aid. At the Legislative session of 1866-67, he asked for an appropriation of $7,000.

THE RADICAL CONVENTION.

LOCUSBURG, N. C., June 23.

Mr. Editor:—I propose to give you a sketch of the proceedings of the Republican Convention which assembled in this place on Saturday last. The object of this Convention as explained by one of the speakers, an aspirant for immediate political promotion, was to nominate a candidate to represent our deceased friend in the Legislature of North Carilna; but according to notice previously given it was to nominate a candidate to fill the vecancy in the Senate occasioned by the death of Col. R. I. Wynne.

We noticed in the Convention from Wake, Farris, Keeper of the Capitol; Jim Jones, lately body servant to President Davis; Backalan, your late Coroner; John Neathery, Gov. Vance's John; Logan Harris, son of Cebe; Major General (!) Willie D. Jones, from the North Carolina Railroad; James T. Harris, (Estes) man, and Col. J. B. Cooke, of Johnston.

The Convention was organized by calling James T. Harris to the Chair, and appointing Logan Harris, Secretary. A. M. Timberlake first addressed the Convention. He had prepared a speech in manuscript, nearly filling two blue-black copy books. He labored very hard to show that the Democratic party was radical. Said "radical," if he understood it, meant going to the root of anything; and that the Democrats tried to defeat the Constitution last spring, and wanted to know if they did not go to the root of it. If so, they must be radicals. He stated as a historical fact that Gov. Wise of Virginia was dead; that he wrote a letter shortly before his death, declaring that slavery was a national sin, and that nothing short of a great civil war could have extirpated, it; "in all of which he recognised the hand of Providence." After he had finished the last copy book, Farr's moved that Mr. T. be requested to prepare and furnish a copy of his speech to the North Carolina Standard for publication.

The delegations from the different Townships, were next called for. Among them, we noticed that John Neathery reported as Chairman of the delegation from Wake.

The next thing which claimed the attention of the Convention, was the manner in which the nomination should be made.—The Franklin delegation contended that according to all the rules of courtesy, and general custom, they should make the nomination and that the Wake delegation should ratify their action. The Wake delegation, however, thought differently, and insisted that they should be allowed to vote; and that the number of votes allowed each county should be determined by its number of Townships.

Here Esq., Harry Webb, colored, wanted to know if there were persons here from all the Townships in Wake. He was answered that there were, either in person, or by proxy. Harry didn't exactly see how a Township could vote, when said Township wasn't here.

John Williamson thought that Wake should not attempt to overpower Franklin by her immense majority, and force upon her a candidate distasteful to her people.—He reminded the Convention that Franklin had not gone Democratic at any time yet; but that he had rather his party should be defeated, than submit to any such dictation from Wake.

Jim Jones said that Wake gave about three times as many Republican votes as Franklin; that the Republicans of Franklin could join in with those of Wake, if they wished, but if they did not come into measures, Wake would hitch up her team and make the trip, without their help.

After continuing the wrangle for sometime, it was finally agreed that the nomination, should be made by the vote of the Townships.

The names of the following parties were then suggested to the Convention by their respective friends: Gen. P. B. Hawking, who has (the expressed opinion of the Sentinel to the contrary notwithstanding,) "gone to Holden," Madison Hawkins, Ben Smith, Lee Long, colored, and P. H. Mayo, colored.

The aspirants were then called upon to "express their deliverance," as one of the colored brethren termed it.

Gen. P. B. Hawkins declared that he stood "fairly and squarely," and as Jack Thomas would say, "flat footed on the Republican platform." He spoke of the great and glorious Republican party; and said that it was the only party now in the country.

Madison Hawkins avowed that he was an out and out Republican, and expressed himself as determined, if elected, to serve his constituents with fidelity.

Ben Smith next indulged in a tirade of bad grammar, and low flung epithets against the "Democrat party."

Lee Long then strongly urged his claims to the place, principally on the ground of color. He pointed to his judicial record, as one of the acting Justices of the Peace, appointed by his Excellency Gov. Holden, as an evidence of his wisdom and a guarantee of his integrity.

P. H. Mayo, Esq., came here pregnant with a big speech, but owing to the excitement or some other cause, aborted terribly.

The Committee after having heard the speeches retired to take into consideration the claims of the several aspirants, and to make a selection from among them. During the absence of the Committee, the crowd were entertained with addresses by Col. J. B. Cook, Major General Willie D. Jones, John Williamson and John Parks.—The remarks of the first three were of that character which might be expected from Radical speakers. Major Jones made some very good hits at those who a few months since were loud and strong in their denunciations of the Radicals, but who now, induced by the prospect of office, and sorely wounded by Gideon's sword, were making a rush for Gideon's band. We were glad to hear it. We say give it to them Major at every opportunity. We agree with you there.

John Parks, after sundry efforts, succeeded in getting to the stand where he proceeded in a loud voice to announce himself a candidate to represent his deceased friend in the Legislature of North Carolina. John Williamson called him to order, and told him that it he couldn't talk sense to get down.—John Parks replied that he would take his text where he pleased. They wouldn't allow John to proceed in the house, so he concluded he would have his "say" and went out on the street and there harangued for sometime. In the course of his remarks, we understand he said, though we did not hear this, that any man who could get drunk, and declare he was what he was not in principle, was a d—d rascal, and that that was exactly what he had done.

About this time the Committee returned and reported, through their Chairman, Logan Harris, that Gen.—P. B Hawkins received the highest number of votes. The Wake delegation had to a man gone for the General, whereas the great majority of the Franklin delegation had gone for Madison Hawkins. It was moved that the Convention ratify the nomination made by the Committee. Madison Hawkins asked to be allowed to make some remarks before the vote was taken. He called upon his friends in Franklin not to ratify the nomination, as he had received nearly every vote of the Franklin delegation, and Gen. P. B. Hawkins had not received one of them. That it was due to Franklin that she should make the nomination, and that Wake should ratify it. He told his colored friends to stick up to him, and he would stick up to them; whereupon the house fairly yelled for Frad. Hawkins. Several parties tried to get the floor at once. John Williamson, Farris, Logan Harris, and others, were bawling out "Mr. Chairman."

The Chairman vainly endeavored to restore order. Every thing was in confusion. Everybody was talking. The Franklin crowd indignant that Wake should attempt to control their action in the matter, were calling loudly for Madison Hawkins, with the exception of a very few who would hallo out brave'y, hurrah for Phil. Hawkins! After awhile Mr. Phil. B Hawkins came upon the stand, when the noise was somewhat hushed. He wanted to know why it was that his friends in Franklin were so much opposed to him; said his home was among them, that he had been born and raised in Franklin;—some one near suggested that that was probably the cause. The General made a very touching appeal to them for support; said he had never injured any colored man; but it was no go, they would persist in calling him a "Wake County Carpet Bagger."

Farris was, for sometime, trying to get in a resolution, that Holden, probably, prepared for the occasion. He started to read it several times, but no one ever heard it. Ben Smith came to the floor and said he was in favor of Phil. Hawkins, because the Democrats and secessionists were in favor of Madison Hawkins, and that it was a settled principle with him, to go against whatever they were in favor of. Madison Hawkins asked him to name some Democrats that had expressed themselves as favorable to his nomination. He replied, Squire David Stone, and Dr. Hal. Davis, if, you must know.

Jim Jones said he was not for any white man—he came down here to nominate Lee Long, and failing in that, he had no preference.

The Chairman finally put the motion to the house, which was lost by a large majority. He declared that the house failed to ratify the nomination of the Committee.

It was now confusion, worse confounded. Madison Hawkins contending that he was the nominee, and Phil. contending that he was. As a compromise, it was agreed to adjourn the Convention, to meet again after the Governor issues an order for the election, and have the whole thing over again.

Madison Hawkins says that he was offered one thousand dollars cash, if he would withdraw and allow the nomination to be ratified. I understand from good authority, that John Williamson says that the Wake crowd made two propositions. The first was to buy the Franklin delegation; the second was to sell to them; but the Franklin crowd refused to accede to either proposition.

CHILD STOLEN!

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS REWARD will be given by its bereaved Mother, for his safe return. Was missing from home on the 6th of October, 1865, and nothing has since been heard direct from him, but information has been received that such a little Boy was seen to pass through Oxford, in the possession of a wagoner, and is now supposed to be in Granville, Person, Orange, Guilford, Rockingham, N. C., or Halifax County, Va. When taken away he was four years old, a beautiful fair skin, blue-eyed boy. Kind reader, is there such a boy in the family of any wagoner in your neighborhood?

A MEETING composed of the Conservative Constitutional Union men of this city, will be held at the Court House on Tuesday night the 29th, at which time delegates will be appointed from the various Districts of Wake county, to attend a Senatorial District Convention, at Franklinton, to nominate a candidate to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Richard I. Wynne, Esq. Let there be a grand rally.

MELISH FOR ROCKINGHAM.—It is rumored on the streets to-day, upon what foundation we know not, that Gov. Holden is about to send a squad of his detectable special militia to Rockingham county.—We do not know what reasonible pretext there is for such an unnecessary and unmusical preceding, if indeed, such a thing be in contemplation; there can be but one real object in view, and that is to get up an excitement to bear on the approaching August elections.

LATER.—Rumor is confirmed. A company of volunteer detectives were drilling to-day, on Capitol Square, under the redoubtable Captain Kwiatkowski, which, by interpretation is John Rosemand, whilom engineer in the Standard press-room. We presume they will take the field at once, as matters (that is two dollars a-day) pressingly demand it.

QUITE A FIZ.—The Court House bell, of this city, sent forth its mellifluous notes on the sultry breeze, Saturday night, to call the faithful, not to prayers, but to consult about celebrating the "glorious fourth's" next Sunday, or some "adjacent day."—But they didn't assemble. Only "my son Joseph" and two or three more flocked to the spot in response to the summons, but, as there were not enough material to make a Chairman, Secretary and Committee of, without some one holding two offices at once, they dispersed to meet again to night. We suggest that, when they appoint a Committee to raise something to eat, special instruction be given them to lay in a supply of "collards."

SICK.—Our reporter, who attended the closing exeises of the school of the Misses Nash and Miss Kollock, at Hillsborough, last week, for the purpose of giving us a report of the same, was "took sick" with neuralgia in the head—he declares he has got neuralgia—and has been unable to write out his notes.

The occasion was a pleasant one to all present, and the young ladies acquitted themselves in a manner that might have been expected of those trained in this excellent school.

ADJOURNED.—The U. S. Circuit Court, which has been in session in this city three weeks, adjourned this morning. His Honor, Judge Brooks, and his Fatness, Mr. Starbuck, U. S. District Attorney, left the city by the morning trains for their respective homes.

CONTRADICTED.—We have received a note from Mr. A. H. Temple, keeper of the jail in this city, stating that the charge of mistreatment of prisoners in regard to fare, published by us on Friday last, on information received from a correspondent, is not true. Mr. Temple states that the prisoners have each a quart of corn meal, properly baked, or two loaves of baker's bread, per day, and from one and three-fourths to two pounds of cooked beef or mutton per day, and water two or three times a-day, and oftener if they desire it. As we stated before, we know nothing of the matte.

SUPREME COURT.—The Court met pursuant to adjournment; all the Justices present.

The following cases were argued:

Miller vs. Gibson, from Rowan County. Kerr Craig for plaintiff, Bailey for defendant.

Smith vs. Smithdeal, from Rowan. Kerr Craig for plaintiff, Bailey for defendant.

State vs. Sandy Ratts, from Rowan. Attorney General for State, Bailey for defendant.

Avery vs Hutchison, from Rowan. Kerr Craig for plaintiff, Wilson and Bailey for defendant.

State vs. Cherry, from Gaston County. Attorney General for State, Gov. Bragg for defendant.

Shelton vs. Shelton, from Davie County Putt off.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT AT DAVIDSON COLLEGE.—We are gratified to learn that the Commencement exercises at Davidson College, beginning on Wednesday morning last and terminating on Thursday evening, were of a highly attractive nature, and were attended by an immense concourse of ladies and gentlemen from different parts of the State. The liveliest interest was exhibited in the prosperity of the Institution, and all the proceedings on the occasion were of a character to inspire the most sanguine hopes of its well-wishers.

The annual sermon before the Williams Association, preached by the Rev. R. S. Moran, of Tarboro, was worthy of the high reputation of this distinguished Divine.

The annual oration before the Literary Societies, pronounced by Seaton Gales, Esq. of this City, was received, we are informed, with much enthusiasm, and a copy of it at once solicited for publication.

The speeches by the students are said to have evinced high scholarship, liberal taste and pleasing culture. The number of graduates was twelve, and the number of students embraced in the Catalogue 122, with the promise of large accessions at the opening of the next Term in September. Two additions are to be made to the Faculty at that time, and the arms of the Institution will be otherwise outstretched to meet the growing popular favor.

We are indebted for these facts to a friend who was present at Commencement. We have been promised a full sketch of the exercises, which will be published when received. By the way, why is it that our Charlotte cotemporaries, within twenty miles of the College, were not represented at this interesting literary festival? We have seen no allusion to it in their columns.

RUMOR.—It was rumored on our streets this morning that Sheriff Moore, of Granville has been killed. We endeavored to trace the report to some reliable source but could not do so.

TURTLE SOUP.—Pepper had turtle soup, at his restaurant, to day, and will have some more there to morrow, say about 11 o'clock.

For the Sentinel.

Editor Sentinel:—DEAR SIR:—I observe in your excellent paper of the 22nd inst., an article signed "A Member of the Legislature." This member of the Legislature attempts to write on consolidation and thinks he has said some sharp things and is very learned on this subject. As a demagogue makes objections in regard to what the President of the N. C. R. R. has done relative to passes to Newbern and Norfolk, I was surprised that one of that ilk should write anything about consolidation, as it is well known over the entire State that Mr. Durham was the only member who voted for consolidation who is possessed of any merit, and that those who voted against consolidation were with this exception the only member in the body of ordinary common sense, say nothing about their ability as men suitable to make laws, to govern the "good" old North Carolina. If this "member of the Legislature" knew anything about Railroads and Steamships, also Seaports we would answer him; but his article shows that he is void of truth or common sense. Therefore we will not waste our time in writing in full, as we feel confident that the Stockholders of the North Carolina Railroad will shudder at the name he signs, and if they thought their Road was not protected by a charter might well exclaim, our Road is gone!

The idea of "a member of the Legislature," and especially one from the A. & N. C. R. R. should advocate consolidation is enough to satisfy all honest people that the thing is in a ring, and his "long winded" and useless communication is in the interest of somebody down about Morehead. We know this brassy faced "member," and that he did not write all of the article, it took the little man of Newbern to help him "fix it up." If we had no other reason for opposing consolidation, this communication alone would make us against it. We have never known the little man of Newbern successful at anything, he has failed in iron works, and coal mines, and come to a dead stand still and failure at the law, and we are afraid to trust him and "a member of the Legislature," with our Road. "A member of the Legislature," a friend to the State and the North Carolina R. R. Bah!

Did not the Legislature do everything in its power to destroy the North Carolina R. R.? Certainly it did. It chartered the Chatham R. R. to the South Carolina line, when they knew it would be finished to Columbia, making a shorter line by sixty miles than the N. C. R. R. to the nearest seaport. Did not the Legislature appropriate two million dollars to build the Atlantic and Ohio Railroad, which will divert the passengers and freights by the Virginia and Tennessee Roads? Did it not do all in its power, as far as appropriations and charters would answer, to kill the N. C. R. R.? Certainly they did. And now this brassy faced "member of the Legislature" wishes to finish his job by consolidating the N. C. with the A. & N. C. R. R. No, Mr. "member of the Legislature," the Stockholders know you and your "ring" and they shun your very name. Wait until the people get a vote at you, and unless all of your constituents are of the colored fraternity, and "leagued" with your "ring," you will never write your name "a member of the Legislature" again.

You have impudence, if you are wanting in brains. The idea of a man writing a communication, and wishing to accomplish his aim, and sign it "A Member of the Legislature," is ridiculous. Poor little fellow, you have killed consolidation effectually. "A member of the Legislature!"—Bah!!

A STOCKHOLDER IN THE N. C. R. R.

MUSICAL SOIREE.

MR. EDITOR.—Decidedly one of the most pleasant and interesting little occasions that I have lately had the pleasure of enjoying, was the musical soiree given by the young ladies of Dr. and Mrs. Lacy's School, on last Friday evening. The performances, both vocal and instrumental, were very excellent indeed, evincing great proficiency (some of them, in fact, being really worthy of almost any occasion) and reflecting much credit, not only upon the young ladies themselves, but also upon Miss Jeannie Everitt, of Goldsboro, the amiable and highly accomplished lady in charge of the musical department. Dr. and Mrs. Lacy were certainly fortunate in procuring the invaluable services of such a connoisseur in the musical science, and the efficient assistance of her equally accomplished sister, Miss Fanny Everitt, in the literary departments of their School.

Under the auspices of such an able and efficient corps of Instructors, this school is enjoying a liberal and merited success.

A PATRON.

THE PAY OF LEGISLATORS.

A commission was appointed some six months ago by the Governor of the colony of Victoria to inquire into and report on the practice of paying members of Legislature in all the countries where the practice prevails. The result was the collection of a large amount of curious and important information. The report, dated February 8th, of this year, adverts first to the ancient practice of England. Town members were paid as early as Edward the Third, and the practice continued until the restoration of the Stuarts. Indeed, according to Lord Campbell, the law is still unrepealed, and any member could even yet claim his "wages," though for two centuries it has not been done. Two other constitutional States follow the present practice of British, namely: Italy and the Republic of the Switzerland. All other free countries, with the exception of some British colonies, compensate their members for attending upon parliamentary duties. In Prussia the members get their traveling expenses and three thalers, or $2.25 a day. The Senate in Prussia has no allowance. In France Senators have £1 200 a year, and deputies £100 a month while the legislative session lasts. Holland allows nothing to the upper House but gives the lower $160 a year, personal attendance being insisted upon. Belgium pays during session about £17 a month to those deputies who ordinarily live in the country, and not in the metropolis. Sweden gives the sum of £66 for the work of the session; extra sessions by the day. In Norway a compensation is given of something more than $3 a day. The Portuguese give $2.50 a day. Brazil allows its Senators £400 a year, and members of Congress £220. Among British colonies, only two pay their members, namely, Canada and New Zealand. In the States the pay is very handsome. According to a law passed in 1866, it is provided that every Senator, Representatives, and Delegate should receive $5,000 per annum, with mileage at the rate of twenty cents per mile. Attendance obligatory, and no attendance no pay. The rate of compensation follows the general rule, local circumstances alone apparently determining it. To pay members for doing public work seems only reasonable. Any other plan limits the number eligible to a very great degree, and tempts very greatly those who are put to such expense for the general good to make it up, as they often do, in no very honorable way. Something may be said for both plans; but the balance is in favor of paying.

A HARD CASE.—We have been told of a poor woman, living in the country, who is so unfortunate as to be possessed of an improvident husband, as this narrative will show: This poor woman has not, since the war, enjoyed the luxury of having sugar or coffee. After denying herself this long time, she determined to make an effort to obtain a small supply of both. So she went to work, spun her yarn, and knit two pairs of excellent socks; and, woman-like, put them in the hands of her unworthy husband, who was about starting to town, and directed him to sell them and expend the money for sugar and coffee. The fellow came to town and, without any trouble, sold the socks for twenty-five cents per pair. But, what do you think he did with the money, for which his good wife thus toiled? He did not buy whiskey, as one would at first suppose. Nor did he buy cloth, or any thing that is useful. The scalawag went off to a barber shop and gave the fifty cents to have his whiskers dyed. Should he not have died himself? This is indeed a "hard case," and we would not blame that woman if she applies for a divorce.—Salisbury Examiner.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Revenue to-day $780,000

Supervisor Nash, of Tennessee, was allowed to resign. His successor is unknown. The change is attributed to the influence of the Stokes party.

The President has appointed Wm. M. Wood Chief of the Navy Bureau of Medicine, and Surgeon.

Mr. Creswell was present at the interview between President Grant and Lewis. The interview was unofficial.

It is stated, on tolerable authority, that President Grant never asked Attorney General Hoar's opinion regarding the political status of Georgia. Attorney General Hoar certainly has taken no steps towards the preparation of such an opinion.

Pereslo says five thousand troops are required in the Cinco Villas District.

The Cubans also captured the Fernida's expedition, which landed at Nuivas. The Grandees joined the insurgents to the number of 600. The health of the Cuban army is comparatively good. HIGHEST INSURANCE AUTHORITIES

SAY OF THE

BROOKLYN LIFE!

"A Company that makes such endorsements on its policies, gives the strongest pledge that it will fulfil its trust faithfully, and keep its reserves sufficient."—HON. ELIHU WASHBURN.

"The BROOKLYN LIFE has placed itself in the vanguard of insurance reform, and is the first Company that has done full and complete justice to the insured."—INSURANCE TIMES, Jan. 1869.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE, ALONE OF ALL OTHER LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES, GUARANTEES A DEFINITE SURRENDER-VALUE IN CASH, AND EVERY POLICY ISSUED BY THAT COMPANY, BEARS A CERTIFICATE STATING WHAT THIS EXACT WORTH WILL BE IN DOLLARS AND CENTS, AT ANY TIME, AFTER THE PAYMENT OF TWO OR MORE PREMIUMS.

"The BROOKLYN LIFE has made no half-way work of the adoption of this inestimable feature. It is noteworthy, in this connection, as a merited tribute to the excellent Company (Brooklyn Life,) which has so gallantly raised the standard of reform in Life Insurance, that we find in the whole list of existing Companies, few competitors which deserve so much credit in respect of economy of management, or care, skill and judgment in the selection of risks."—INS. SPEC. Jan. 1869.

The BROOKLYN LIFE has paid, and now pays to its policy-holders, LARGER DIVIDENDS than ever before paid by a Life Insurance Company!

Dividends are paid IN CASH, or applied to the permanent increase of the policy, or left with the Company to accumulate at interest, in either way, at the option of the policy-holder.

ACROSS THE RIVER.

When for me the silent oar
Parts the silent River,
And I stand upon the shore
Of the strange Forever,
Shall I miss the loved and known?
Shall I vainly seek mine own?

Mid the crowd that come to meet
Spirits sin-forgiven—
Listening to their echoing feet
Down the streets of heaven—
Shall I know a footstep near
That I listen, wait for here?

Then will one approach the brink
With a hand extended,
One whose thoughts I loved think
Ere the veil was rended,
Saying "Welcome! we have died,
And again are side by side."

Saying, "I will go with thee,
That thou be not lonely.
To yon hills of mystery:
I have waited only
Until now, to climb with thee
Yonder hills of mystery.

Can the bonds that make us here
Know ourselves immortal,
Drop away, like foliage sere
At life's inner portal?
What is holiest below
Must forever live and glow.

I shall love the angels well,
After I have found them
In the mansions where they dwell,
With the glory round them
But at first, without surprise,
Let me look in human eyes

Step by step our feet must go
Up the holy mountain;
Drop by drop within us flow
Life's unfailing fountain.
Angels sing with crowns that burn;
We shall have a song to learn.

He who on our earthly path
Bids us help each other—
Who his Well-Beloved hath
Made our Elder Brother—
Will but clasp the chain of love
Closer when we meet above.

Therefore dread I not to go
O'er the Silent River.
Death, thy hastening oar I know;
Bear me, thou Life giver,
Through the waters, to the shore,
Where mine own have gone before.

LIFE INSURANCE.

NATIONAL

OF THE

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Chartered by Special Act of Congress, Approved July 25th, 1868.

CASH CAPITAL,

$1,000,000,

PAID IN FULL.

It is no longer a question with any man, who tenderly loves his wife and children, who considers how helpless would be their condition in case of his death, as to the duty of taking out a LIFE POLICY, but as to which Company he shall pay his money.

If he reflects a moment he will conclude to patronize the Company which shows the greatest degree of vitality, which extends its business over the largest area, which is a Home Company in every locality; which furnishes insurance at the least cost; which issues no policies that are forfeitable should he be unable next year, or any subsequent year to pay his renewal; and which is undoubtedly able to meet ALL ITS PROMISES.

With these feelings and views, he looks over the newspapers, and, by the time he gets through reading the advertisements of Mutual or Mixed Companies, he finds his mind so fuddled that he is at a loss where to go or what to do. He can not comprehend one-half that is written, and concludes that none but Actuaries, who are familiar with the principles upon which Life Insurance is based can comprehend or explain anything about dividends and his liability for notes given in part payment of premiums. In his dilemma, he looks into the plan adopted by the

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

U. S. A.,

and finds just what he wants:

An ALL CASH PLAN, reduced to the LOWEST MINIMUM Rate, like any commodity in Market, so much Insurance for so much Money. No notes to give; no interest to pay; no anxiety about Assessments; no apprehension of his Policy being forfeited next year if he does not pay his annual Renewal; and the RATES so much LOWER than other Companies, that he realizes a larger Dividend, IN ADVANCE, than other Companies can pay him in the future.

He finds that, instead of this UNCERTAIN PROMISE, and present high rate, that the presents a certain and definite sum for a much lower rate, and puts up its paid up Capital of

$1,000,000

as a guarantee fund, that its contracts will be fulfilled, and, like thousands of others, cheerfully calls on their Agent to make his application for a Policy. Hence the unprecedented and most wonderful success of the NATIONAL as contrasted with the older and Mutual Companies.

The Company issued its first policy on the 1st of August, 1868, and up to March 1st, 1869, it had issued

Amount insured,	3,582 policies.
Total Premiums,	$10,005,500.00
	350,117.03

The whole number issued by the Connecticut Mutual in the first year of its existence was 892
By the Mutual Benefit of New Jersey, 693
" New England Mutual, 343
" Phœnix Mutual, 335
" Massachusetts Mutual, 312
" Equitable of New York, 277

The Mutual Life, of New York, in the first year of its existence, only issued 470 policies.
In its 10th year, 1,260 "
And in its 20th year, 2,842 "
this latter being 690 less than was issued by the NATIONAL in its first seven months.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.

The RALEIGH SENTINEL having passed under the Editorial management of the undersigned, it will, from the present date, be conducted by him.

It will be the zealous and fearless advocate of the CONSTITUTION of the United States, seeking to bring the people back to their ancient reverence for that immortal instrument, and to restore the policy of the country to that honored standard, as the only guarantee of National prosperity.

It will do justice to the men and measures of the present day, whenever they may merit it, but it will unsparingly lash and denounce all who set themselves up in opposition to the Federal Constitution, and hold up to the public indignation corruption and imbecility in high places.

It will ardently seek the promotion of the best interests of North Carolina,—moral, educational, material and political.

THE LATEST NEWS

From every quarter, both by mail and telegraph, will be carefully collated and presented.

Full and correct market and financial reports will be given.

And, in one word, no effort will be spared to make the SENTINEL, in all respects, a reliable

NEW METHOD OF WASHING CLOTHES WITHOUT LABOR.

THE AUTOMATIC CLOTHES WASHER AND BOILER.

THIS BOILER IS MOST EFFECTUAL, reliable and universally recommended. It can be used on any Stove or Range, in any boiler, and the Low rates of the articles places it within the reach of every family.

This Boiler operates upon purely philosophical principles, is self-acting, and dispenses with labor and the wear of the clothes.

The hot suds and steam, by the action of heat, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the clothes, and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing all articles, from the finest laces to the coarsest. For Flannels it is invaluable, as it does not call them as in the old process of rubbing and pressing.

The time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes is twenty to thirty minutes, and nearly three hundred gallons or boiling suds are forced through the fabric, thoroughly loosening and eradicating the dirt WITHOUT LABOR or friction.—A thorough rinsing finishes the process.

Washing day will no longer be a terror and dread to housewives. The cost of the Boiler will soon be returned in the SAVING OF TIME AND LABOR, and the great saving in the wear of clothes.

The great value of this invention appears so clear, and appeals so directly to common sense, that we have deemed it unnecessary to accompany its introduction with numerous letters of approval, &c.

No invention has met with such ready sale and given such satisfaction. Call at LOUGEE & GRIFFIN'S, and see the wonderful operations.—We have the exclusive right to sell and manufacture in the state.
